Synopsis:

Up above, next to the moon, is a land called Dreamland. This is the dreamland where all our dreams live on once we wake up. It's also the home of the Sandman, who brings us the sweetest dreams night after night.

But Dreamland is in danger. The nightmares have banded together and planed to take over this cheerful land. Their leader Habumar, a storm full of hot air, has managed to steal the Sandmans dreamsand. What a nightmare! If Habumar succeeds, nothing but long nights of bad dreams awaits people on earth.

Knowing he cannot defeat Habumar alone, the Sandman sends a trustworthy but clumsy counting sheep called Nepomuk down to earth. His urgent mission is to get help from the famous Captain Scheerbart. When Nepomuk mistakes his six years-old grandson Miko for the real Captain Scheerbart, the little hero suddenly finds himself smack in the middle of a fantastic adventure.

Together with the Sandman, his sister Lina and the counting sheep Nepomuk, Miko chases Habumar across Dreamland. Habumar must finally admit that he's nothing but a storm in a teacup.

After this adventure, no one will ever doubt just how powerful the dreams of a little boy can be!
